Crime Victim’s Reparations Program

You may qualify for financial help with bills relating to your crime. If you have medical expenses, funeral expenses or have lost wages as a result of a crime, and which are not covered by insurance, you may qualify for reimbursement under the Nebraska Crime Victims Reparation Act. To qualify you must report the crime to law enforcement within 72 hours and apply for compensation within 2 years from the date of the crime. The compensation program does not cover loss of property or pain and suffering.

For more information and a claim form contact your local Victim Assistance Program, Domestic Violence Program, state or local MADD program or contact the Nebraska Crime Commission at P.O. Box 94946, Lincoln, Nebraska 68509; or call (402) 471-2828. More information can be found on the Nebraska Crime Commission website: www.ncc.ne.gov. Click on “Services/Programs” and then “Crime Victim Reparations”.

Protection Order

A protection order is an order from a judge to help protect people from abuse or harassment. It is granted because someone attempted or threatened to cause bodily injury, or intimidated the other person. There are two types of protection orders, a Domestic Abuse Protection Order and a Harassment Protection Order. For more information on Nebraska’s protection orders please visit the Nebraska Supreme Court’s self-help website at: <http://supremecourt.ne.gov/self-help> and click on Protection from Abuse. A Domestic Abuse Protection Order is for people who have been in close relationships (relatives, spouses or former spouses, people who have lived or are living together and people in a dating relationship) and have experienced injury or threats by that person. A Harassment Protection Order does not depend upon relationships, but requires a number of telephone or personal contacts that seriously terrify, threaten, or intimidate a person.

You must complete protection order forms and give them to the District Court clerk who then gives the forms to the judge. These forms are available from the District Court clerk or the Supreme Court website referenced earlier. It is recommended that you work with a victim advocate in your area to fill out the forms to obtain a protection order.

Victim Information & Notification Everyday (VINE)

VINE (Victim Information & Notification Everyday) is a free anonymous computer service that provides victims of crime the ability to check on the status of a specific offender and/or be notified if the offender is released from prison or jail or transferred to another Nebraska correctional facility. The Nebraska VINE service is available in English, Vietnamese and Spanish.

For inmate status information or to be notified when an inmate is released or transferred, call, toll-free, 1-877 NE-4-VINE (1-877-634-8463) and follow the prompts or go to www.vinelink.com to register. You may also request help from a victim assistance agency. When checking on the status of an inmate, you will be asked to enter the name of the offender or his/her inmate number. VINE will quickly provide you with inmate status

Alliance Police Department – You are important to us! information. If you want to be notified when the offender is released or transferred to another facility you must register either by calling the number listed above or going to www.vinlink.com and clicking on the Nebraska map. During registration by phone you will be asked to provide a telephone number where you can be reached and to select a four digit Personal Identification Number (PIN) code. When the VINE system calls you and there is no answer or the line is busy, VINE will continue to call for a minimum of 48 hours. VINE will leave a message on an answering machine, but will continue to call for 48 hours or until you enter your PIN. Entering your PIN notifies the VINE system that you have received the notice.

Your Privacy

YOU DO NOT HAVE TO ANSWER QUESTIONS OR SPEAK WITH THE MEDIA OR PRIVATE INVESTIGATORS. YOU CAN DECIDE WHETHER OR NOT YOU WANT TO BE INTERVIEWED. IF YOU CHOOSE TO GIVE AN INTERVIEW. PLEASE CALL YOUR INVESTIGATING OFFICER. YOU WILL BE PROVIDED IMPORTANT ADVICE TO PROTECT THE INVESTIGATION.

Visas

In 2000, Congress created both the “T” and “U” visas with the intent to encourage victims of certain serious crime to cooperate with law enforcement officials who are prosecuting criminal offenders. If you need additional information on either of these types of visas, a Victim’s Advocate can help.

Arrest Information and Copies of Police Reports

To obtain a copy of your case report, call the Alliance Police Department Records Section at 308-762-4955 or complete a request at the police department’s website, to arrange obtaining a copy of your report. Or, you may come to the Records Section in person at 512 Niobrara Avenue, Alliance, NE twenty four hours a day, seven days a week to request a copy of your report. There is no fee to obtain a copy of the report. Occasionally, state laws restrict release of certain types of crime reports. Call the Records Section to find out if you may have your specific report.

Getting Property Back

After the court proceedings have been completed, you can contact Alliance Police Property and Evidence at 308-762-4955 with your case report number and request your property be returned. If your property is no longer needed as evidence and is not contraband, you may make an appointment with the evidence technician to get your property released.

For Family and Friends

Listen carefully and spend time with the traumatized person. Do what you can to help them feel safe and remind them their confusing emotions are normal.

Offer assistance with specific tasks or errands (victims often feel unfocused and unable to make decisions about tasks needing to be accomplished). Patiently offer options without taking control. Reestablishing control is an important part of the healing process for victims.

Traumatized people are not comforted by statements such as, “you are lucky it wasn’t worse”. They may also feel blamed by questions like, ”why were you there?” Instead, tell them you are there for them. Reassure them that you are there for support.

Post Trauma

After some time has passed, it is possible to experience a full life after a crime or tragedy. As most people work through their feelings about the event, they begin to accept they did the best they could under the circumstances, and have renewed energy to focus on their lives again.

Intimidation is Not Okay

If you or someone in your immediate family is being threatened through the use of violence or intimidation by the defendant, or at his/her direction, please do one or all of the following:

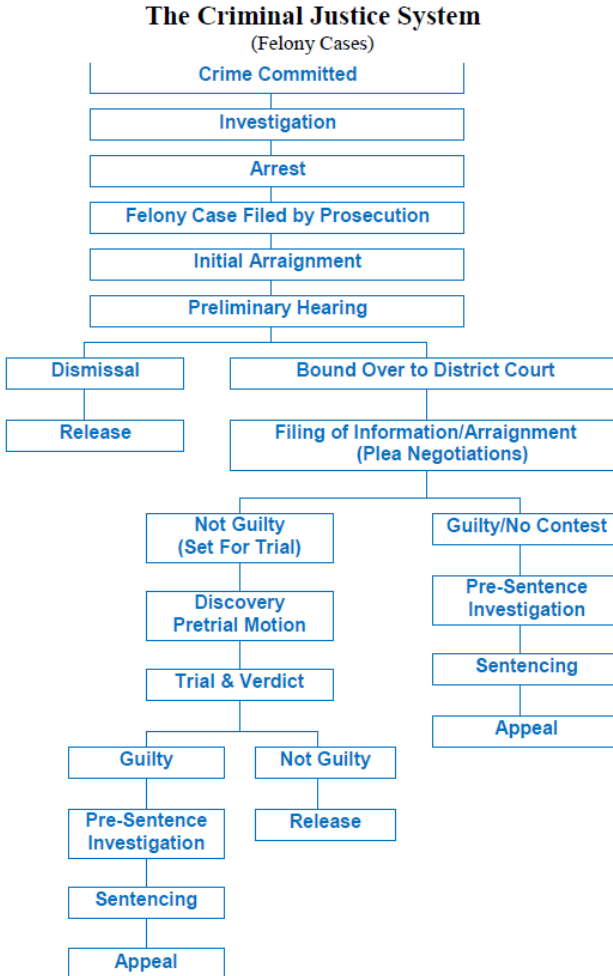

- Contact your local law enforcement agency immediately and report the incident.
- Contact the County Attorney's Office and tell the attorney handling the case what has been happening.
- Ask the County Attorney or an advocate for information on protection orders.
- Contact the nearest Victim Assistance Program and request information.

Victim's Rights and Duty

Later in this guide we will review some specific rights for victims in the criminal justice system. These rights can be found in Nebraska Revised Statute 81-1848. These rights include your right to receive information and to be notified of specific parts of the criminal justice process, as well as several other rights. In order to ensure that your rights are provided to you, it is necessary that the County Attorney know how to contact you. Statute requires, in felony cases, that victims of crime keep the County Attorney informed of current address and phone number until the defendant is sentenced or a final decision in the case is reached.

The Criminal Justice System Flow Chart

Explanation of the Criminal Justice System

(Felony Cases)

The image on the previous page illustrates the flow of a felony case through the criminal justice system. Below is a brief explanation of each stage of the process. It may help you to know that the defendant is the person who committed the crime.

Felony Crime Committed

Alliance Police Department – You are important to us!

Law enforcement responds to a call and should first attend to the immediate needs of the victim. The officer may contact an advocate to assist with this as well. The officer investigates the crime by taking statements from witnesses which will likely include a statement from the victim.

Investigation

If law enforcement gathers enough evidence against a person suspected of committing the crime, they will arrest that person. In some situations, they may obtain an arrest warrant from the court and then make the arrest.

Arrest

If an arrest is made, the facts of the case are presented to the County Attorney (Prosecutor) who determines if criminal charges are to be filed with the court. At this point, the authority of the case transfers from the law enforcement agency to the County Attorney's Office.

Felony Case Filed by Prosecution

If the prosecutor believes there is enough evidence to prove that the accused committed the crime, the prosecutor will decide what charges are to be filed and files the criminal charges with the court.

Initial Arraignment (County Court)

The accused is brought before a County Judge and the County Attorney informs the defendant (accused) of the criminal charges against him or her and the possible penalties for such crimes. A defense attorney is appointed for the defendant if he/she cannot afford one.

- Possible Plea Negotiations: In plea-bargaining, the defendant may be offered a reduced (lesser) charge by the prosecutor in exchange for a guilty plea. As a victim, you have a right to be informed of any plea that is accepted.
- Bail: If no plea-bargain is offered or agreed to, a date is set for further court proceedings. The judge may set bail for the defendant.

Docket Call (County Court)

Some county court judges may use a Docket Call to control his/her schedule. Victims do not need to appear at a Docket Call. The prosecutor and the defense attorney appear and the court sets a date for the Preliminary Hearing.

Preliminary Hearing (County Court)

The defendant has the right to waive (not have) the Preliminary Hearing at any point before it is held. At a Preliminary Hearing, it is possible that the victim and other witnesses may be asked to testify and asked specific questions by the Defense Attorney (the Defendant's Attorney); this is not uncommon. The defendant will be present at the Preliminary Hearing. During the Preliminary Hearing the following may occur.

- Dismissal: If the judge decides there is not enough evidence to prove that a crime was committed or that the defendant most likely did not commit the crime, the case will be dismissed. The judge may also dismiss the felony charge. If so, the prosecutor would have the option to re-file the case as a misdemeanor, or lesser charge.

- Release: If the case is dismissed, the defendant is released and free to leave.
- Bound Over to District Court: If during the Preliminary Hearing, the judge decides there is sufficient evidence to prove that a crime was committed and that the defendant most likely committed the crime, the case will be transferred to the District Court for trial. This does not mean that the defendant was found guilty. It simply means that the Judge thinks there is enough evidence to continue to explore if the defendant committed the crime.

Filing of Information and Arraignment (District Court)

The charges are brought before a District Court Judge. The defendant is told what charges are being brought against him or her and the penalties. A date is set for further proceedings.

- Plea Negotiations: Plea-bargaining may take place between the County Attorney, the defendant and his/her attorney. In plea bargaining, the defendant may be offered a reduced (lesser) charge in exchange for a guilty plea. As a victim, you have a right to be informed of any plea that is accepted.

Plea

If there are no plea negotiations, the defendant will go before the court and enter a plea of guilty, not guilty or Nolo Contendere (No Contest) of the crime for which they are charged. No Contest is a plea, which the defendant can enter in court. When doing so, the defendant is not denying or admitting guilt to the charges. The judge will review the evidence presented and will make a ruling of guilt or acquittal (not guilty). The defendant can later deny the charges. If the judge rules that there is enough evidence to support a conviction then a “No Contest” plea is equivalent to a guilty plea.

A) Pleads Not Guilty: The defendant is stating that he/she is not guilty of committing the crime(s). The following procedures then occur.

1) Set for Trial: The court schedules the date of the trial. Prior to trial, the defendant’s attorney may file motions (paperwork) to exclude a person who will testify against the defendant. The victim’s testimony may be needed with such motions. Such motions may also include a request to exclude certain types of physical evidence or specific testimony from being introduced during the trial. The defendant’s attorney may also take sworn, statements from the victim and other witnesses prior to trial. This process is called a Deposition.

2) Discovery Pre-trial motion: The defendant’s attorney is provided the evidence the prosecutor has against the defendant.

3) Trial & Verdict: The defendant and his/her attorney decide if they want a trial by jury or with a Judge. A jury is made up of 12 people randomly selected by the court who hear all the evidence in the case and decide the verdict (guilty or not guilty). If the trial is with a judge (also known as a Bench Trial), then the judge decides the verdict (guilty or not guilty).

4) Not Guilty Verdict: If the defendant is found not guilty, he/she is released and is free.

5) Guilty Verdict: If the defendant is found guilty of the charges there is usually a Pre-sentence Investigation (PSI) completed.

6) Pre-sentence Investigation (PSI): If the defendant is found guilty, a pre-sentence investigation may be completed by Probation. It consists of an interview with the defendant, a review of his/her criminal record, and a review of the specific facts of the crime. A form may be sent to the victim called a Victim Impact Statement. The victim may use this to provide information for the court regarding how he/she was impacted by the crime. The Probation Office may also contact the victim by phone to collect this information. The victim has the option of filling out the form or submitting their own statement to be included in the PSI. It is important to note that the PSI may be made available to the defendant. The probation officer may make a recommendation to the judge about the type and severity of the sentence (penalties). The judge may or may not follow the recommended sentence from probation.

7) Sentencing: The penalties for the defendant will be announced in District Court after the trial and the pre-sentence investigation is completed. The sentence may include fines and/or jail or prison time or probation or all of the above.

8) Appeal: If the defendant is found guilty, he/she has a right to appeal the conviction to a higher court. During this time, the defendant may be free on an appeal bond. (See Appeal Process Information Section)

B) Pleads Guilty or No Contest: The defendant pleads guilty or No Contest (Nolo Contendere) to the charges that were brought to the District Court. Before deciding on the sentencing, the Judge may order a presentence investigation.

1) Pre sentencing Investigation (PSI): If the defendant is found guilty, a pre-sentence investigation may be completed by Probation. It consists of an interview with the defendant, a review of his/her criminal record, and a review of the specific facts of the crime. The victim may be sent a Victim Impact Statement form to fill out. The victim can use this to provide information to the court regarding how he/she was impacted by the crime. The Probation Office may also contact the victim by phone to collect this information. The victim has the option of filling out the form or submitting their own statement to be included in the PSI. It is important to note that the PSI may be made available to the defendant. The probation officer may make a recommendation to the judge about the type and severity of the sentence (penalties). The judge may or may not follow the recommended sentence from probation.

2) Sentencing: The penalties for the defendant will be announced in District Court after the pre-sentence investigation is presented. The sentence may include fines and/or jail or prison time or probation or all of the above.

3) Appeal: The defendant has a right to appeal the sentence to a higher court. During this time, the defendant may be free on an appeal bond. (See Appeal Process Information Section)

Appeal Process Information

An appeal is usually filed because the defendant and/or his/her attorney believe that there is some error in the procedure or application of the law. The court will review this to determine if an actual error exists. During this time the defendant may be released on an appeal bond until the appeal is heard in the higher court, which could be several years later. The Trial Court's decision is not considered final until all appeals are heard. Once the appeal is heard, the decision will be made to either uphold or dismiss the decision of the lower court. Appeals are first taken to the Court of Appeals and once a decision is made by the Court of Appeals, the defendant can then appeal to the State Supreme Court.
